1 Introduction

1.1 Background

- 1.1.1 This Heritage Assessment has been prepared as part of the evidence base to support the preparation of the New Simplified Planning Zone (SPZ) Scheme at Slough Trading Estate (STE), Slough. It seeks to provide an assessment of the likely historic environment effects arising from the proposed development parameters set out within the SPZ Scheme. It considered both built heritage and archaeological assets, comprising designated and non-designated assets on or around the site which could experience an impact from the SPZ Scheme.

1.2 Scope, Aims and Objectives

- 1.2.1 This assessment provides a baseline of known or potential buried heritage assets (archaeological remains) and above ground heritage assets (structures and landscapes of heritage interest) within or immediately around the site. These are identified as having a degree of significance meriting consideration in planning decisions and include designated heritage assets, assets identified by the local planning authority (including local listing) and non-designated archaeological remains. Professional expert opinion has assessed heritage significance and archaeological potential, based on historic, archaeological, architectural, or artistic interest, considering past ground disturbance which may have compromised survival.
- 1.2.2 Archaeology and built heritage have long been a material consideration in the planning process and their value is recognised in national and local planning policy. The aim of this report is to assess the impact of the proposed development and to provide recommendations to mitigate any adverse effects, if required.
- 1.2.3 Paragraph 200 of the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF), 2023 requires applicants to describe the significance of those assets potentially affected by development proposals. This assessment should be proportionate to the assets' importance and no more than is sufficient to understand the potential impact of the proposed development on significance.

1.3 Methodology

- 1.3.1 This document will set out a brief history of the site and its surroundings together with a statement of significance of those heritage assets affected by the proposals. It will go on to consider the potential impacts of the proposed works within the legislative and policy context.
- 1.3.2 The assessment of significance follows the heritage interest-led approach set out in the NPPF, comprising archaeological, architectural, artistic, and historic interest. This has been guided by the definitions provided in the updated 'Planning Policy Guidance'. The assessment of significance is informed by Historic England's Good Practice Advice in Planning (GPA) 'Note 2: Managing Significance in Decision Taking in the Historic Environment' (2015) and 'Advice Note 12: Statements of Heritage Significance - Analysing Significance in Heritage Assets' (2019) which provide general advice on assessing significance to ensure heritage statements meet the requirements of the NPPF.
- 1.3.3 The assessment of the contribution made by the setting of the heritage assets follows the staged assessment approach set out in Historic England's guidance document 'Historic Environment Good Practice Advice in Planning Note 3 (Second Edition): The Setting of Heritage Assets' (GPA3, 2017). These steps are:

- Step 1: asset identification. The NPPF requires an approach that is proportional to the significance of the asset, and for this reason only those assets considered to experience an impact are considered in this assessment. A scoping exercise filters out those assets which would be unaffected.
- Step 2: assess the contribution of setting. This stage assesses how setting contributes to the overall significance of an asset.
- Step 3: assess change. This considers the effect of the proposals on asset significance. It is noted however that it can be difficult to quantify such change to the overall significance (for example, significance would rarely be downgraded from ‘high’ to ‘medium’ due to changes in setting). For this reason, the impact is reported in this assessment in terms of the extent to which the proposals would change how the asset is understood and experienced (in terms of no harm, less than substantial harm, substantial harm / total loss of significance).
- Step 4: mitigation. This explores ways to maximise enhancement and avoid or minimise harm. This is typically considered at the design stage (i.e., embedded design mitigation).
- Step 5: reporting. Making and documenting decisions and outcomes. This reports the assessment of effects.

Data Sources

- 1.3.4 To determine the historic environment potential of the site and its surroundings, a broad range of standard documentary and cartographic sources were examined to determine the likely nature, extent, preservation, and significance of any known heritage assets that may be present. Table 1 below provides a summary of the key data sources consulted.

Source	Data	Comment
Historic England	National Heritage List (NHL) with information on statutorily designated heritage assets	Statutory designations (scheduled monuments; statutorily listed buildings; registered parks and gardens; historic battlefields) can provide a significant constraint to development.
Local County Council	Historic Environment Record (HER)	Primary repository of archaeological information. Includes information from past investigations, local knowledge, find spots, and documentary and cartographic sources.
Historic England	National Record of the Historic Environment (NRHE)	National database maintained by Historic England. Not as comprehensive as the HER but can occasionally contain additional information. Accessible via Pastscape website.
Local Planning Authority	Conservation Area Appraisals	An area of special architectural or historic interest the character or appearance of which it is desirable to preserve or enhance.

Local Planning Authority	Locally listed buildings	Building of local importance designated by the local planning authority due to architectural and/or historic significance and a positive contributor to the character of an area. Whilst not statutorily protected, a building's inclusion on the list means that it is a material consideration in the planning process.
British Geological Survey (BGS)	Solid and drift geology digital map; online BGS geological borehole record data.	Sub-surface deposition, including buried geology and topography, can provide an indication of potential for early human settlement, and potential depth of archaeological remains.
Local County Council Record Office	Historic maps (eg tithe, enclosure, estate), published journals and local history	Baseline information on the historic environment.

1.3.5 The findings of this assessment have been informed by detailed desk-top research and a series of site visits undertaken in March 2022, July 2022, November 2022, and November 2023. Walkovers of the site and the surrounding area were completed, to confirm the topography and existing land use, the nature of the existing buildings and monuments, identify any visible designated heritage assets (e.g., structures, buildings) and assess factors which may have affected the survival or condition of any known or potential assets.

1.3.6 As well as this a detailed review of the Townscape and Visual Analysis that has been prepared as part of the EIA Screening work (Appendix 2.1: Townscape and Visual Analysis and Appendix 2.2 Cultural Heritage of the EIA Screening Report, December 2023).

Study Area

1.3.7 The extent of the study area has been determined by the valley topography and associated higher ground that affords long distance views towards the site. To this end, a 5km study area that incorporates the higher ground on either side of the valley to the north/northwest and southeast has been drawn from the boundary of the site. Within the 5km study area, those heritage assets with potential to be affected by the New SPZ Scheme has been identified. A desk-top review identified a high number of designated heritage assets within a 5km study area from the site boundary, including several assets at the highest designations. There are several listed buildings within, and immediately adjacent to the boundary of the site and it is considered there is low potential for archaeological remains on the site, with potential for below ground non-designated heritage assets to survive in small areas within the site boundary.

1.4 Legislative and Policy Framework

Legislation

1.4.1 The Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979 sets out the legal requirements for the protection of Scheduled Monuments. The protection extends not just to known structures or remains but also the soil under or around them and any adjacent land which is essential to support or preserve the monument. The control of works affecting Scheduled Monuments is set out in Schedule 1 of the Act.

- 1.4.2 The Planning (Listed Buildings and Conservation Areas) Act 1990 sets out the legal requirements for the control of development and alterations which affect listed buildings or conservation areas (including buildings of heritage interest which lie within a conservation area). Key sections are reproduced in full below:

“s.66(1) In considering whether to grant planning permission for development which affects a Listed building or its setting, the local planning authority or, as the case may be, the Secretary of State shall have special regard to the desirability of preserving the building or its setting or any features of special architectural or historic interest which it possesses.”

“s72(1) In the exercise, with respect to any buildings or other land in a conservation area, special attention shall be paid to the desirability of preserving or enhancing the character or appearance of that area.”

- 1.4.3 Section 38(6) of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004 requires applications for planning permission to be determined in accordance with the development plan unless material considerations indicate otherwise.

National Planning Policy

- 1.4.4 The NPPF sets out Government planning policy with Chapter 16 providing policy guidance for conserving and enhancing the historic environment. The guidance recognises the importance of preserving assets in a manner appropriate to their significance and guides that any harm or loss to significance should require clear and convincing justification.
- 1.4.5 Implementation of the NPPF is supported by the Planning Practice Guidance (PPG) (2014 with updates).

1.5 Consultation

- 1.5.1 Significant consultation has been undertaken in relation to the New SPZ Scheme including, engagement with existing users of the STE and a public exhibition held over two days. As well as public consultation, engagement has also occurred with local ward members, and council officers, including Urban Design and Conservation.
- 1.5.2 SBC will launch the formal Deposit Stage Consultation in July 2024 for a 6-week period. This consultation will provide statutory consultees, stakeholders and the Slough community the opportunity to comment on the New SPZ Scheme, and its evidence base to inform the proposals.
- 1.5.3 In addition, several workshops have been held with Historic England, alongside council officers in relation to the parameters of the new SPZ Scheme and the supporting Design Code will be included as part of the formal Deposit Consultation alongside this Heritage Assessment.
- 1.5.4 Full details of the consultation that has occurred are detailed in the accompanying Statement of Community Involvement.

2 Site Context

2.1 Baseline Conditions

- 2.1.1 An SPZ was first granted at the STE in 1995 and was subsequently renewed in 2004 and again in 2014. The STE is located approximately 1.6km to the northwest of Slough town centre within the administrative area of Slough Borough Council (SBC).
- 2.1.2 The STE is one of the oldest and largest industrial areas in Europe and has been in operation for over 100 years since its establishment in 1920. Existing uses within the site include a mix of industrial units, storage and distribution units, data centres, a hotel, research and development facilities, retail units, food and drink establishments including takeaways, leisure units such as gyms along with financial and professional services including telecommunications and technology. These comprise the permissible uses permitted under the current SPZ Scheme and include Use Classes B1b, B1c, B2, B8, data centres, A1-A5, other development (solar panels, means of enclosure, CCTV masts and associated equipment and demolition). The total existing floorspace on the site is approximately 698,830 square metres (sqm) (figure determined on 31st December 2022). The site also includes the Slough Combined Heat and Power Plant.

2.2 SPZ Scheme

- 2.2.1 An SPZ is a unique form of planning permission which creates a flexible permissive environment for development to be brought forward in an area where a local authority wishes to encourage development and investment. The requirement for flexibility is inherent in an SPZ application where the quantum and type of the development delivered will depend on many factors including market conditions, vacancy rates and availability of labour. The flexible nature of the development is and will be clear in all documents which are published relating to the new SPZ.
- 2.2.2 As set out in the EIA Screening Report, there is a wide range of potential development scenarios, both in terms of quantum and rate of delivery, location, and types of use, which could theoretically be developed within defined limits and controls. Whatever those potential development scenarios, a fundamental principle is that they will be constrained by the defined parameters and mitigation measures embedded within the SPZ Parameters.
- 2.2.3 At this stage it is not practicable to define an anticipated development scenario, such that for the purposes of the EIA Screening and this assessment, the 'worst case' development scenarios within the parameters have been considered and assessed.

3 Historic Environment Baseline

3.1 Designated Heritage Assets

3.1.1 As noted at paragraph 1.3.7 a 5km study area was assessed in order to identify those heritage assets with potential to be affected by the SPZ Scheme. A search of the NHL identified 891 designated heritage assets within the study area which includes:

- 841 Listed Buildings,
- 16 Registered Parks and Gardens
- 11 Scheduled Monuments, and
- 23 Conservation Areas.

3.1.2 These include several assets at the highest designations:

- Assets at Windsor Castle, including the Scheduled Monument and Grade I listed buildings within the castle precinct, 3.2km southeast of the site,
- The Royal Estate, Windsor: Windsor Castle and Home Park, Frogmore Gardens, Windsor Great Park - Grade I Registered Park and Gardens and associated listed structures, 2.4km southeast of the site,
- Grade I listed Eton College buildings and Grade II Registered Park and Garden, 2km southeast of the site,
- Registered Parks and Gardens at Stoke Place, Stoke Park Grade II Registered Park and Garden, Stoke Park Stoke Poges Golf Club (Grade I Listed) and Manor House (Grade I Listed), Stoke Poges Gardens of Remembrance, registered at Grade I respectively, 934m to the northeast of the site at the closest point,
- Cliveden House, Terrace Wall to Garden Front and Blenheim Pavilion (Grade I Listed respectively); Stable Buildings and Balustrade from the Borghese Villa Rome, Shell Fountain (Grade II* Listed respectively) and Grade I Registered Park and Garden, 4.7 km to the northwest of the site,
- Grade I Listed Huntercombe Manor and Grade II Registered Park and Garden, Grade I Listed Burnham Abbey and buildings, 1.4 km to the southwest of the site; and
- Scheduled Monument known as 'Moated Site at Cippenham Court' (NHLE: 1013455)

3.1.3 There are also several listed buildings within and immediately adjacent to the boundary of the site, including:

- Railway Bridge – Grade II (NHLE:1391570), within the site on Leigh Road,
- Milestone at SU9556 8054 – Grade II (NHLE:1113373), close to the junction of Leigh Road and Bath Road; and Milestone SU 9412 8097 – Grade II (NHLE:1321974), at the junction of Bath Road, Station Road and Elmshott Lane,
- The Long Barn Public House – Grade II (UID: 1113378), 200m south of the site,

- Barn approximately 10m E of the Long Barn Public House – Grade II (NHLE:1321978), 223m south of the site,
- Barn approximately 40m SW of the Long Barn Public House – Grade II (NHLE:1113379), 246m south of the site,
- Chippenham Lodge – Grade II (NHLE: 1321979), 294m southeast of the site,
- Wall at Chippenham Lodge – Grade II (NHLE: 1113380), 294m southeast of the site,
- Baylis House – Grade I (UID: 1113389); 370m to the west of the site,
- Former Service Block adjoining Baylis House to northeast – Grade I (NHLE:1251374); 430m to the west of the site,
- Coach House and adjoining outbuilding approximately 10m to the northwest of Baylis House – Grade II (NHLE:1262819); 420m to the west of the site,
- Godolphin Court approximately 40m to north of Baylis House – Grade I (NHLE:1313126); 445m to the west of the site,
- Wall and Gatepiers adjoining Baylis House to northwest – Grade II (NHLE:1262730); 360m to west of the site,
- Wall, Gatepiers and Gates adjoining Baylis House to southeast – Grade II (NHLE:1251378); 415m to west of the site,
- Wall, Gatepiers and Gates adjoining east forecourt wall to Baylis House to southeast – Grade II (UID: 1251496); 520m to west of the site,
- Wall adjoining southeast forecourt all and pavilion to Baylis House – Grade II (NHLE: 1251375); 535m to the west of the site; and
- Wall and Gatepiers adjoining northeast forecourt wall and pavilion to Baylis House – Grade II (NHLE: 1251492); 505m to the west of the site.

3.2 Non-Designated Heritage Assets

- 3.2.1 Given the scale of the current built development, the potential for archaeological remains on the site is likely to be low. However, there is the potential for below ground non-designated heritage assets to survive in small areas of the site. The Written Scheme of Investigation (WSI) undertaken for the current SPZ highlighted areas of archaeological potential which have since been mitigated and developed. Any areas for archaeological consideration will be detailed in the updated WSI which accompanies this New SPZ Scheme submission.

3.3 Screening

- 3.3.1 Desk-based research followed by field work was undertaken to inform the screening exercise. The assessment utilised modern and historic mapping, aerial photography, Google Earth, the Zone of Theoretical Visibility (ZTV) analysis, the National Heritage List, and an online search of the publicly available Historic Environment Record data, to identify which designated above ground heritage assets identified within the study area may include the proposed development area as part of their setting. Additionally, the following documentation was consulted:

- Upton Conservation Area Character Survey (July 2007),

- Farnham Royal Conservation Area Character Appraisal (January 2010),
- Framewood Road Conservation Area Character Appraisal (July 2011),
- Stoke Poges West End Conservation Area Character Appraisal (July 2011),
- Taplow Conservation Area Character Appraisal (June 2007),
- Taplow Riverside Conservation Area Character Appraisal (October 2007),
- Eton Conservation Area Appraisal (November 2009),
- Windsor Town Centre Conservation Area Appraisal (November 2009),
- Burnham: Buckinghamshire Historic Towns Assessment (2011); and
- Colnbrook Conservation Area Appraisal (July 1997).

3.3.2 In accordance with Step 1 of the methodology recommended by the Historic England guidance (GPA 3), the majority of the identified designated heritage assets within the wider environs of the site have been scoped out of this assessment. This is generally due to there being no historical or functional connection identified between the site and the assets, combined with the separation distance, intervening built form or landscape features and topography such that it is considered that the land which constitutes the site does not meaningfully contribute to the setting of these assets and therefore does not contribute to their heritage significance.

3.3.3 A gazetteer of all designated heritage assets scoped out of this assessment has been provided in Appendix 1, along with a summary of their heritage significance and commentary on scoping. A full list of heritage assets within the 5km study area is provided at Appendix 2. Those designated heritage assets that have been identified as having potential to be impacted by the New SPZ Scheme have been considered in turn below.

3.4 Significance Assessment

Assets within proximity to the Site

Railway Bridge, Leigh Road

3.4.1 The Grade II listed railway bridge located at Leigh Road, lies within the boundary of the site. Built to the designs of Isambard Kingdom Brunel in 1836-8 with later extensions, the bridge has high heritage value as a 'Brunel' bridge with a high degree of surviving original fabric and as an excellent exemplar of the broad 'gauge' or distance between the railway tracks. The heritage significance of the listed building lies primarily in its historic interest as a remnant of the industrial revolution and its association with Brunel. Its aesthetic interest lies in the surviving fabric and bridge construction design.

3.4.2 Most of the bridge structure lies below road level within the railway line cutting. Mature vegetation borders each side of the railway line, and the modern Leigh Road bridge sits adjacent to the west. Visibility of the lower bridge structure from public viewpoints is therefore restricted, other than for passengers on passing trains. The bridge sits within an existing commercial/industrial setting within the STE and the existing large-scale development associated with the STE forms an integral part of the setting of the listed building.

No.2 Milestones at WU 9556 8054 and SU 9412 8097, Bath Road

- 3.4.3 These no. 2 Grade II listed late-18th century white painted milestones are positioned within the grassed area of the central island of Bath Road and within an island at the junction of Bath Road, Station Road and Elmshott Lane.
- 3.4.4 The significance of these assets is derived from their interest as part of the historic highway network. It is their setting within the original carriageway of Bath Road that contributes to the significance of these small-scale assets. Their wider setting has been much altered to accommodate different phases of development since the 18th century and the site is not considered to make any contribution to their significance, simply forming part of their wider townscape setting.

Long Barn Public House, Barn appx.10m E, and Barn appx. 40m SW of the Long Barn Public House

- 3.4.5 This group of three timber framed barns with clay tiled roofs have origins from the early 16th century and were formerly part of Cippenham Court Farm. The significance of these structures is derived from their historic interest and group value as part of the historic Cippenham Court Farm. Whilst no longer in agricultural use, their original function remains discernible.
- 3.4.6 This cluster of farm buildings originally formed a traditional farmyard of Cippenham Court Farm. Their setting has undergone substantial change and is now an urban environment characterised by 20th century residential, educational, and industrial development. The Long Barn is in use as a public house and restaurant and the barn to the east is in commercial use. Both The Long Barn and the barn to the east sit opposite an area of open space adjacent to The Westgate School. Beyond the open space, large scale, low rise commercial buildings lie in the foreground with glimpses of the CHP plant chimney beyond. Views to the north are dominated by the large-scale horizontal forms of the development that front onto Bath Road.

Nos. 1-5 Cippenham Lodge and Wall

- 3.4.7 Nos. 1 – 5 Cippenham Lodge is an early to mid-18th century former house in red brick of six bays with a clay tile roof and the wall defines the historic boundary to the property. The significance of the assets is derived from their group value and architectural quality as a remnant of the group of buildings forming the historic Cippenham Court. They hold historic value in their representation of the historical development of Slough, transitioning from a rural area to a densely populated urban settlement.
- 3.4.8 The building sits close to the street frontage and at a lower level than Cippenham Lane. Located approximately 150m to the east of The Long Barn, there is mid-20th century housing located opposite on the north side of Cippenham Lane. The built form prevents any views to the north towards the site and the site is not considered to make any meaningful contribution to the significance of these assets.

Moated Site at Chippenham Court

- 3.4.9 The scheduled monument is located approximately 750m to the south of the site. The moated site survives well and is associated with a series of earthworks situated immediately adjacent to the moated site. The earthworks indicate high potential for archaeological remains of activities associated with the moat. Its inner bank encloses a level area interpreted as representing the location of the foundations of a substantial manor house. Cippenham was a royal manor from the 8th – 14th centuries and the site were thought to be held as a temporary residence from 1252 AD. Traditionally the site has also been associated with the Palace of Richard, Earl of Cornwall.

- 3.4.10 The significance of the monument is derived from its archaeological and historic interest, as a medieval moated site potentially representing a prestigious aristocratic residence and evidence of human activity associated with this residence. Its significance is intrinsically linked to the landform and physicality of the monument. The site, representing the urban built form of 20th century Slough is not considered to make any contribution to the significance of the monument.

Baylis House including Forecourt Walls and Pavilions, Former Service Block, Coach House, Godolphin Court, Wall and Gatepiers adjoining Baylis House to the northwest and southeast, Wall, Gatepiers and Gate adjoining southeast and northeast forecourt wall and pavilion to Baylis House

- 3.4.11 Baylis House (Grade I Listed) and its former service block (Grade I Listed), coach house (Grade II Listed), Godolphin Court stable block (Grade I Listed), enclosing walls and garden walls (Grade II Listed) form Baylis Park, form a group of assets, located 370m west from the site. The significance of the assets lies in their architectural and historic interest as an exceptional ensemble of buildings, structures, gardens, and pleasure grounds associated with the late 17th century/early 18th century Baylis House.
- 3.4.12 Baylis House and its grounds have high significance due to its aesthetic qualities and associations with notable designers employed throughout its early phases of development. The house, built in the Dutch style in red brick has a hipped slated roof with coped parapet and is formed of 7 bays. The principle east and west elevations are almost identical. Developed in three main phases from c.1695-1735, the first phase for Dr Gregory Hascard, Dean of Windsor and Chaplain to the King, and the second for Dr Henry Godolphin, Provost of Eton College, and Dean of St Paul's. Godolphin employed several notable architects, garden designers and builders that were also employed at Eton, including Thomas Ackres, a successful garden designer and the architect John James.
- 3.4.13 Historically, the heritage assets represent the transition of a private country house and parkland to a public 20th century urban park. Baylis House and its pleasure grounds, garden, meadow, and farm were sold as separate lots in 1920. Slough Borough Council purchased the house in 1939 and it went into private ownership for use as a hotel in 1999. The house, forecourt and one walled garden form the hotel grounds, the remaining gardens and pleasure grounds, including the 'Wilderness' area to the west of the House, is now the public Baylis Park. Godolphin Park adjoins Baylis Park to the north.
- 3.4.14 The setting of Baylis House remained rural until the mid-20th century, when residential development spread from the STE to the east. The OS Map of 1946 shows that by this time, residential development had been laid out along West Road (now Whitby Road) and the houses of Woodland Avenue extended to the west boundary of Baylis House. Prior to this development, views from the house had extended to the west over the Wilderness and the south towards Windsor Castle. Due to the surrounding residential development to the west and the slight southwest – northeast alignment of Baylis House, views from the house towards the west are now contained within the former site<sup>1</sup>, now the west boundary of Baylis Park.
- 3.4.15 The wider setting of this ensemble to the west has been altered by 20th century development that restricts views beyond the former pleasure grounds boundary. The site holds no associative or functional relationship with the heritage assets.

Assets within the wider landscape

Windsor Castle including all the buildings within the walls, The Royal Estate, Windsor: Windsor Castle and Home Park, Frogmore Gardens, Windsor Great Park, Windsor Town

Centre Conservation Area

- 3.4.16 The royal palace of Windsor Castle (Grade I Listed) is England's largest castle. With its origins dating back to William the Conqueror, the first stone buildings were erected by Henry II in the later 12th century. The castle comprises the Round Tower which stands on an artificial motte with the baileys, the public Lower Ward to the west and the private Upper Ward to the east. To the north of the Round Tower and Upper Ward is the north terrace, a broad path that overlooks the steep Northern Slopes below. James Wyatt and Sir Jeffrey Wyattville carried out alterations and additions between c. 1800 – 1830 resulting largely in the castle seen today.
- 3.4.17 Windsor Castle holds high historic and archaeological value due to its royal palace status and intimate associations with the British Royal Family since the 11th century, being the oldest and largest inhabited Royal residence in the world. Architecturally, the grand scale and cohesive, symmetrical composition is attributed to the 19th century mass alterations carried out by Wyattville. Contributing to Windsor Castle's exceptional aesthetic value, is St George's Chapel (1475-1511) that sits within the Castle complex. The chapel is regarded as one of the finest examples of English Gothic perpendicular architecture in the country<sup>2</sup>. Views of the iconic Castle, from both within Windsor town centre and from its much wider setting, are of national significance.
- 3.4.18 Windsor Castle occupies a strategically prominent position on a promontory above the river Thames, offering commanding views across the surrounding landscape, including Windsor Great Park, and the river valley below. Surrounding Windsor Castle to the west is the town of Windsor. To the northeast and southeast are the gardens, pleasure grounds and a landscaped park comprising Home and Garden) and Windsor Great Park (Registered Grade I Park and Garden) to the south of the A308. The setting of these assets is both urban and rural in nature and has undergone significant change, not least in the 20th century, through the urban expansion of Slough to the north.
- 3.4.19 Great Windsor Park (Registered Grade I Park and Garden) lies to the south of the town of Windsor and Windsor Home Park. Comprised of an area of 2500ha, it was created out of Windsor Forest as a royal hunting park from the 11th century. Its approximate present state had evolved by c1365. The park contains many ancient trees from its medieval origins and later landscaped gardens attached to four principal residences within the park. The topography is undulating, and views are afforded to the north of the park towards Windsor Castle, Home Park, and the town with the Chiltern Hills in the background.
- 3.4.20 The STE is located over 3km to the northwest of the north terrace at Windsor Castle and c.1km northwest of the northern boundary of Windsor Great Park. The STE having been constructed in the early 20th century holds no functional or associative relationship with the assets at Windsor Castle or Windsor Great Park.
- 3.4.21 The identified views looking towards the site from the North Terrace show the layer of urban development and the extent of change that has occurred within the wider landscape. The settlements of Windsor and Eton sit within the middle ground, with the STE and Slough town centre appearing within the backdrop against the wooded skyline beyond.
- 3.4.22 There are wide panoramic views of the Thames Valley from Snow Hill and the southern end of the Long Walk. The Long Walk, laid out by Hugh May for Charles II in c. 1683-5 connects Home Park and Windsor Great Park, extending 5km from the equestrian statue of George III in the south to the George IV Gate positioned 300m south of the Castle. Windsor Castle terminates this important vista to the north. The castle turrets occasionally disrupt the wooded uniform skyline in this long-distance view. Further to the east, the CHP plant chimney also disrupts the skyline. Like the view from the North Terrace of Windsor Castle, the layer of urban development formed by the site, and Slough town centre, can be seen to the east of Windsor Castle against the wooded skyline. Other tall buildings in the Thames Valley corridor can also be seen in these views.

Eton College, Eton College Park and Garden, Eton Conservation Area

- 3.4.23 Eton College (Grade I Listed) founded by Henry VI in 1440 to feed into King's College, Cambridge, is formed of an outstanding group of buildings that surround two courtyards. Built mainly in brick with stone dressings, the buildings date from 1441 with most of the ranges completed by 1500. Eton College Chapel, a landmark building synonymous with Eton College, was completed in 1483 in a variety of stone in the later Perpendicular style. Two of the gardens to the north of the main college buildings had been laid out by the late 17th century and by the late 19th century, a garden had been laid out to the east with the surrounding meadows landscaped. By this time the playing fields to the north had been incorporated; further playing fields to the northwest at Agar's Plough and to the west of the B0322 had been incorporated.
- 3.4.24 The heritage significance of Eton College and its grounds lies in its internationally renowned status as an educational institution associated with Henry VI, the exceptional architecture of the school buildings and gardens and the striking College Chapel, symbolic of the college. The chapel plays an important visual role as part of a group with Windsor Castle and St George's Chapel as seen from the north.
- 3.4.25 The town of Eton has largely retained its medieval layout, with the High Street connecting the College and bridge crossing to Windsor. There is a contrast between the simple vernacular style along the High Street with the grand, ostentatious architecture of the college buildings. The hierarchy of scale and spaces remains highly legible, with the spacious college areas, the densely developed High Street, and the more modest development beyond. The conservation area is characterised by a diversity in building types and periods, mainly in brick, that represents the evolution of architecture over time.
- 3.4.26 Within Eton town buildings and walls enclose either side of Slough Road and views are limited, apart from the open space around the Chapel and Memorial buildings which allows these buildings to be appreciated. The playing fields to the northwest are largely screened by mature trees, except at the Five Arches Bridge crossing to the north of the school. There are views from the school grounds to the northeast over Agar's Plough towards the M4 and the urban area of Slough. However, the belts of trees surrounding the playing fields together with intervening built form and the low-lying topography of the area restrict long-distance views towards the site to the northwest.
- 3.4.27 There is no inter-visibility between the site and the highly sensitive heritage receptors of Eton College and its grounds, or the wider conservation area. This is largely due to the low-lying position of the school and town on the flood plain to the north of the river together with the intervening built form of more distant settlements. It is therefore considered that the site makes no meaningful contribution to the significance of these highly graded heritage assets.

Cliveden House and Cliveden Park and Garden

- 3.4.28 Cliveden House (Grade I Listed), now owned by the National Trust and in use as a hotel, was rebuilt by Sir Charles Barry in 1853. The three storey, nine bay villa in a Cinquecento style, replaces a former house of the same dimensions and layout by William Winde c. 1674-7 for George Villiers, Second Duke of Buckingham. The house lies in extensive gardens, pleasure grounds and woodland that includes early 18th century work by Charles Bridgeman, influences by Alexander Pope and a rose garden design by Sir Geoffrey Jellicoe in the 1950's.

- 3.4.29 Positioned on an escarpment above the River Thames, Cliveden House lies at the centre of the garden within the north part of the estate. The grounds cover approximately 85 ha, which is mostly in woodland and features a formal core of designed rides. The house addresses the Great Parterre to the south with spectacular views of a stretch of the River Thames 1km away. The grounds slope steeply to meet the river that forms the west boundary; Cliveden Road borders the grounds to the east with Hedsor House and Taplow Court estates to the north and south respectively.
- 3.4.30 Cliveden House and its gardens, pleasure grounds and woodland have high significance due to its 17th century origins and ownership by the second Duke of Buckingham, the first Earl of Orkney, the Dukes of Sutherland and Westminster, and the Astors. The house, rebuilt to the designs of Sir Charles Barry, has exceptional architectural value, with other estate buildings designed by George Devey. The designed gardens, pleasure grounds and parkland were associated with the work of notable designers Charles Bridgeman, Alexander Pope, and Sir Geoffrey Jellicoe, contributing to their high aesthetic value.
- 3.4.31 Due to the orientation of designed views from Cliveden House to the south and the densely wooded hillside to the east, the town centre of Slough is not visible in views from the South Terrace. In almost all areas, belts of trees align Cliveden Road, that demarcates the eastern extent of the park. In one very long-distance view from the southeast, the silhouette of Cliveden can be seen against the skyline with the silhouette of the CHP chimney to the left-hand side (Site Context Photograph 28, Slough Trading Estate: SPZ Renewal Townscape and Visual Appraisal, December 2022). The silhouette of both built forms are almost indiscernible from this distant view. Outside the park to the east are additional areas of woodland. These areas of vegetation restrict visibility of the urban area of Slough and the site to the southeast from Cliveden House and its park setting, such that the site makes no contribution to this group of designated heritage assets.

Stoke Park, Stoke Poges Gardens of Remembrance, Stoke Place, Stoke Green Conservation Area

- 3.4.32 Stoke Park mansion (Grade I Listed), designed by Robert Nasmith in 1789 for John Penn and completed by James Wyatt c. 1793-7 has a balustraded core of three storeys and seven bays. Built in the classical style in stucco, it features a central dome on a drum with widely spaced Composite capitals.
- 3.4.33 The house was built in the existing grounds of the Manor House, 1555 (Grade I Listed), in the northeast of the grounds. Built for Francis, Earl of Huntingdon, the Manor House was later owned by Chief Justice Coke, who entertained Queen Elizabeth here in 1601. Anne, Viscountess of Cobham, inherited the Stoke Manor in 1749 and implemented a programme of landscaping improvements by Lancelot Brown. The estate later passed hands to the Hon Thomas Penn. His descendant John Penn, commissioned Humphrey Repton to make improvements at the time that the house was being built by Nasmith. Following the sale of the estate by the Penn family in 1848, a golf course was laid out in 1908 and parts of the park sold for housing in 1911. Sir Noel Mobbs extended the golf course and laid out the Gardens of Remembrance on part of the eastern parkland in the 1930's.
- 3.4.34 The significance of Stoke Park lies in its evolution as a designed landscape surrounding a manor house that dates from 1555 by the Earl of Huntingdon. Stoke House, the manor house, designed landscape and garden buildings are of high architectural value with works associated with James Wyatt, Lancelot Brown, Nathaniel Richmond, and Humphrey Repton. Stoke Park has high historic value by way of its transition from manor house to an 18th century country estate and parkland and due to its association with several prominent members of society, including Queen Elizabeth I.

- 3.4.35 The mansion house stands at the centre of the park on a level platform that falls to the east and south. A formal terrace surrounds the house to the west, south and east with informal pleasure grounds to the west. The parkland, comprising of 115ha, is gently undulating with a valley running from north to south in the western edge of the park and another valley running northeast – southwest within the eastern part. The parkland is predominantly characterised by the golf course with much of the planting associated with the golf course layout. The pair of lakes that run across the park are also dominant features within the parkland.
- 3.4.36 The historic rural setting of Stoke Park has changed to being predominantly suburban, with the Manor Park housing estate on the northeast fringes of Slough bordering the site to the south and the village of Farnham Royal to the west. The house is orientated to experience long views to the south over the pleasure grounds towards the River Thames and Windsor Castle. Dense vegetation along the southwest periphery of the grounds visually encloses this part of the site, visually separating it from the urban area beyond. These landscaped areas combined with the built form of the housing to the southwest serve to limit views from the grounds towards the site, such that the site is not considered to make any contribution to the significance of these designated heritage assets.
- 3.4.37 Stoke Place (Grade II Registered Park and Garden) lies to the southeast of Stoke Park and as with Stoke Park, is part of a group of landscape gardens around Stoke Poges. The pleasure grounds, designed by Lancelot Brown and extended in the early 19th century, form the setting for the late 17th century villa Stoke Place (Grade II Listed). The special interest of the heritage receptor lies in its representation of pleasure grounds with mid-18th century origins subject to two phases of development, commissioned by General Sir George Howard and his grandson, Richard William Howard-Vyse; the designer Capability Brown as one of the of the most important and influential figures in the history of English landscape design; and evidence of early 19th century gardening practices.
- 3.4.38 As with Stoke Park, the west boundary of the 40ha site is well defined by mature vegetation and a red brick boundary wall that encloses the site. The grounds are largely level, restricting views to its wider setting to west. Given the distance from the site, the existing landscaping features, and the intervening built form, it is not considered that site makes any contribution to the significance of Stoke Place and the adjoining conservation area, who's heritage sensitivity lies in its development as an 18th century pleasure grounds and the small rural historic linear settlement to the north.

Taplow Court and Village, Scheduled Monument of Saxon Barrow, Church, and Cemeteries

- 3.4.39 Taplow Court (Grade II Listed) stands on a promontory overlooking the River Thames to the west. The manor was acquired by the 1st Earl of Orkney who also owned Cliveden to the north. The fifth Earl of Orkney sold Taplow Court to Charles Pascoe Grenfell in 1852, who rebuilt the former manor house to become the large Tudor-style country house of today. In 1828 a new church was built further to the east following the dismantling of the Anglo-Saxon St Nicholas's Church that had fallen into disrepair. The buried remains of the church and the nearby Saxon barrow (c. 650 AD) are scheduled monuments. The replacement church became the new focus for the emerging development of Taplow village. A new school was constructed in 1848 (now demolished) with the Victorian "Reading Room" now serving as the village hall.
- 3.4.40 The special architectural and historic interest of Taplow is derived from its historic occupation of this promontory overlooking the Thames since the Middle Stone Age to the present. Its character is defined by the east-west road that links the 19th century church, central to the village, to Taplow Court and its wooded hillside location. The informal layout of the village and hillside gradient has established an irregularity in building lines, plot size and positions.

Architecturally, there is diversity in building types and age, comprising of mansions, vernacular buildings, villas, and modern housing.

- 3.4.41 Taplow village, now focused on the village green, nestles into the wooded hillside, which makes a significant contribution to the character of the conservation area. The hillside topography and mature trees, creates an intimate and secluded setting. Views are predominantly inward focused towards the village green and the church spire that forms an important landmark within the centre of the village. Important views identified in the Taplow Conservation Area Appraisal, include those towards the south across the Thames Valley towards Windsor Castle as seen from the Oak and Saw public house; and south across the Jubilee river and the Thames towards Bracknell Forest, and from the southern approach along Boundary Road<sup>3</sup>.
- 3.4.42 There are only glimpses from within the conservation area to the wider setting, including fragments of the urban landscape of Slough, seen between vegetation and buildings. There are only very fleeting, glimpsed views of the urban development of Slough to the east from within the Taplow Village Conservation Area. Due to the distance separation and intervening vegetation, these views of built form are incoherent and unable to aid legibility. The site holds no associative or functional relationship with Taplow Court and Taplow Village, who's significance lies in its ancient settlement origins, the striking visual presence of Taplow Court, and the secluded hillside character of the village to the east.

Huntercombe Manor, Burnham Abbey and Huntercombe Conservation Area

- 3.4.43 The origins of Huntercombe Manor dates from the 14th century when it belonged to Burnham Abbey. Its timber-framed hall core was built at that time with further work in the late-17th century, early 18th century and the 1880s. The largely 19th century exterior, is in plaster render with colour washed brick and plain tile roofs. Huntercombe was bought by George Evelyn I in 1656, uncle of the diarist John Evelyn who frequently visited. In 1871 Eleanor Vere Boyle and her husband resided at Huntercombe and developed Evelyn's gardens as well moving the road to the west. Eleanor Vere Boyle was a friend of Queen Victoria and her family, many of whom visited Huntercombe. Following her death in 1916 the property was sold to Buckinghamshire Council and became a children's hospital in 1997. Hospital buildings were constructed on the site in 1996/7 to the south and the southeast.
- 3.4.44 The significance of Huntercombe Manor lies in its 14th century origins and its 19th century gardens on the site of 17th century gardens; and in its association with John Evelyn, Eleanor Vere Boyle and Queen Victoria and her family. The 7ha grounds to Huntercombe Manor are largely flat, extending to the M4 to the east with the urban edge of Slough beyond. To the north is a residential site currently under development with residential streets of Slough adjacent to the north. Huntercombe Farmhouse lies to the south with Burnham Abbey to the southwest. Agricultural land surrounds the Huntercombe Conservation Area to the south and west. The gardens surround the house with the gardens to the east densely landscaped with many ornamental trees, and an orchard in the southeast corner. This landscaping and a 19th century avenue of lime trees to the west visually encloses the grounds.
- 3.4.45 Burnham Abbey was founded in 1266 by Richard, Earl of Cornwall for the Augustinian Canonesses. Built in flint and chalk rubble with handmade tile roofs, restoration and additions were undertaken in the 16th century. In 1913 it was purchased by an architect and surveyor, James Blissley, who restored the remaining buildings. This includes the Chapter House, Sacristy and parts of Frater and Infirmary. The heritage sensitivity of the receptor lies in its historic interest as a 13th century abbey in use as a convent today. Its aesthetic interest lies in the group of surviving abbey buildings together with the boundary cob wall.

- 3.4.46 Located to the southwest of the dog-leg bend in Huntercombe Lane, the site is similarly enclosed by mature vegetation and a boundary plastered wall of cob, brick, and stone with gabled tile capping (Grade II Listed). The setting of the asset and its sensitivity lies predominantly within the enclosed site.
- 3.4.47 Due to the enclosed nature of both Huntercombe Manor and Burnham Abbey and the lowlying flat topography in which they sit, the ability to experience the significance of these assets is predominantly contained within the boundary enclosures of the respective sites. Whilst the rural setting comprised of agricultural fields to the south and west contribute to the significance of the assets, the residential development of Slough to the north and northeast does not. The intervening built form of residential Slough to the northeast obscures the potential visibility of the site located approximately 1.4km from these heritage assets. The site holds no associative or functional relationship with them and makes no contribution to their significance.

Boveney Conservation Area

- 3.4.48 Boveney is a small hamlet comprised of a group of cottages, a church, and farm buildings located to the south of Dorney Common. The 16th century Old Place (Grade II Listed) at the west end of Lock Path was formerly five or six cottages. To the south of the Old Place is the Grade I Listed 12th century Chapel of St Mary Magdalene (now redundant), in chalk and flint coursed rubble with ashlar dressings and weatherboard tower. Further east to the south of Boveney Road is Boveney Court (Grade II Listed) of 17th century origins in brick and hung tiles, and the 17th century timber framed Pond Cottage (Grade II Listed). A group of barns form the farmyard to Boveney Court Farm on the north side of the Hamlet, two of which date from the 17th century and are Grade II Listed.
- 3.4.49 The character and appearance of the conservation area is largely defined by timber framed vernacular buildings that make up this small, unaltered rural hamlet. The boundaries of the conservation area and of each individual plot are well defined by belts of mature trees and vegetation. This verdant landscape with buildings partially hidden behind the greenery forms an important characteristic of the conservation area. The verdant character of the conservation area encloses the hamlet and restricts views out into the open space of Dorney Common to the north. Glimpses of the common and more distance views towards the urban settlement of Slough are intermittent between the vegetation.
- 3.4.50 The topography is low-lying, and therefore any views toward the site from the conservation area is largely screened either by intervening built form or by a belt of trees. The CHP chimney and cooling towers can be seen rising above the skyline in views across Dorney Common. However, the ability to appreciate these structures from within the conservation area is limited due to the vegetation within and bordering boundary. As such, the STE makes no meaningful contribution to the significance of the conservation area.

Burnham Conservation Area

- 3.4.51 Burnham is a large village that now forms part of the conurbation of Slough to the northwest. It is a linear settlement on a north-south axis with Burnham Priory and the church at the south end and the High Street extending north. The high street appeared to have been laid out following the founding of a market by Burnham Abbey in 1271, however its commercial prospects were short lived due to the creation of Bath Road to the south, that diverted trade to Maidenhead. Substantial growth did not take place in Burnham until the mid-20th century with the growth of London and Slough and the advent of commuting.

- 3.4.52 The buildings aligning the medieval core of Burnham, the High Street, date from the 15th and 16th centuries but are predominantly from the 17th and 18th centuries<sup>4</sup>. St Peter's Church (Grade II* Listed) to the west of the High Street, dates from the 12th century. The historical depth and variety of the buildings that are laid out on narrow 'burgage' type plots are of high historic value. Due to the range of early vernacular style buildings, Georgian, Victorian and some modern buildings that have wide frontages to the high street, there is a coherence in scale, layout, and use of materials. This range of buildings and coherence in form contributes to the architectural value of the conservation area. At the southern end of the High Street, the land opens out to Burnham Park, characterised by the former 19th century park and garden known as the Priory. This area forms the setting to the conservation area and is characterised by a range of buildings that vary in style and period, with mid-late 20th century dwellings to the southeast along Windsor Lane. Due to the descending topography to the south and the termination by the park of the High Street, the CHP chimney, and parts of one of the CHP cooling towers can be seen rising above the roofline of dwellings located on the northeast side of Windsor Lane.
- 3.4.53 The open space of Burnham Park contributes to the significance of the Burnham Conservation Area, however the mixed character and quality of development changes travelling along Windsor Lane to the southeast, such that the contribution that the setting makes to the significance of the heritage receptor diminishes.

4 Impact Assessment

4.1 Introduction

- 4.1.1 The management and mitigation of change to the historic environment resulting from development are based on the recognition within Government planning objectives that "...heritage assets are an irreplaceable resource..." (see NPPF Section 16).
- 4.1.2 Impacts to the historic environment and associated heritage assets arise where changes are made to their physical environment by means of the loss and/or degradation of their physical fabric or setting, which in turn leads to a reduction in the significance.
- 4.1.3 Professional judgement is used to consider the impact of future development on the significance of the identified heritage assets. This will be assessed in NPPF terms as 'no harm', 'less than substantial harm', or 'substantial harm'.
- 4.1.4 In examining the potential impact to significance, consideration is given to the scale, massing, design, materials, location, and topography of the Site, and the degree to which these may alter the way in which the Site contributes, or otherwise, to the significance of the identified heritage assets.

4.2 Development Principles

- 4.2.1 As part of the work undertaken, it was critical to understand the level of potential change that may occur through the New SPZ Scheme. As such an 'assessed baseline' was established, as set out in the submitted TVIA. The assessed baseline included consideration of the existing SPZ heights parameters and existing exceedances either already constructed or benefiting from planning permission. The relevant views within the TVA are views 16 (from the North Terrace) and 18 (from Snow Hill).
- 4.2.2 Through a series of workshops and discussions with SBC and Historic England, several development principles were established in the early development of the SPZ parameters. These principles sought to ensure that the emerging proposals responded positively to the sensitivity of the views and minimise the potential impact on the significance of the assets. These included (specific principles relating to scale and massing highlighted in bold):
- Maintaining the legibility of the wooded backdrop and skyline.
  - Minimising the perception of unbroken, overbearing mass to avoid creating a uniform skyline and add visual interest.
  - Minimise further visual intrusion in the immediate backdrop of Eton College Chapel as viewed from the North Terrace.
  - The need to carefully consider the colour of any new built form to ensure that Eton College Chapel and Windsor Castle remain prominent within the identified views.
  - Variation in height across the STE to not only provide visual interest but to also ensure a tapering effect towards key townscape features such as Eton College Chapel in the view from the north terrace and Windsor Castle in the view from Snow Hill.
  - Focussing of massing away from Windsor Castle ensure the perceived dominance of the castle is maintained in the view from Snow Hill.

- Legibility of key corridors, nodal points and gateways through the Site including through greater height. Where greater height is proposed, it should have meaning within the townscape. Impact Assessment

4.3 Mitigation

- 4.3.1 Once the building height parameters had been established through extensive modelling and options testing, consideration then turned to the need for primary mitigation to be incorporated into the proposals. From a heritage perspective, the development principles established the need for Eton College Chapel and Windsor Castle to remain the distinctive landmark feature within the views from the North Terrace and Snow Hill, respectively.
- 4.3.2 A colour strategy is proposed as primary mitigation to mitigate the perception of height and built form across the STE. Through liaison with the Townscape team, it was agreed that the colour strategy should include:
- The use of vertical elements (patterning and/or planting) to break up the horizontal massing,
  - The use of recessive colours on the southern facades, mid-tones that ensure that the built form does not appear dominant and result in minimal disruption to the foreground of the view. This is particularly key within long-distance views from across the Thames Valley, specifically from Windsor Castle and Windsor Great Park.
  - Breaking up the vertical and horizontal massing of large buildings such as data centres to diminish the perception of scale. Avoid the use of large-scale, light-coloured barrel roofs to reduce prominence within elevated views across the valley.

Design Code Development

- 4.3.3 Through extensive dialogue with SBC in relation to the New SPZ Scheme, further work has been undertaken in relation to the primary mitigation measures to demonstrate that the SPZ would not result in significant effects in EIA terms to the assets at Windsor Castle and Windsor Great Park. This relates primarily to the preparation of a Design Code which will be submitted as part of the SPZ Deposit Consultation.
- 4.3.4 Those elements of the Design Code which specifically seek to minimise the potential visual impact of any increase in scale within the SPZ relate to building form and colour strategy. Significant work was undertaken to ensure that the prescribed approach responded adequately to the heritage and landscape considerations, principally ensuring that the SPZ development would appear recessive in the wider landscape setting of Windsor Castle and Windsor Great Park.
- 4.3.5 To define the appropriate approach to the colour strategy, further testing was undertaken in the form of modelling, based on the maximum height parameters applied across the STE (worst case scenario). The colour strategy proposes a simplified colour palette, utilising colours found in the surrounding landscape as viewed in the LVIA photography.
- 4.3.6 The colour strategy will be applied by following an options-based approach, dependant on the plot location, height of built form, elevation, building crown, elevational length, and relationship to adjacent buildings. A series of photomontages were prepared, and initial testing of the strategy resulted in areas of built form continuing to be visually prominent within views from Windsor Castle and the Great Park, such that amendments were required to lessen the perceived impact to the setting of these assets. Continued discussions in relation to the options testing has resulted in the refinement of the colour strategy to ensure that the built form will appear recessive within the wider landscape setting of the identified heritage assets.

4.4 Impact Assessment

4.4.1 Of those assets scoped into this assessment, many would experience only a minor or negligible change within their setting, such that there would be no impact on their heritage significance.

4.4.2 Through extensive discussions with Historic England and SBC it is considered that those assets detailed below are considered to experience an impact from the SPZ Scheme:

- Windsor Castle, and Windsor Great Park
- Moated Site at Cippenham

Windsor Castle, and Windsor Great Park

4.4.3 The setting of Windsor Castle and Windsor Great Park has undergone significant change since its origins and more recently due to the urban development and expansion of Slough in the mid-20th century that now forms a consolidated layer in the distant landscape. Given the high sensitivity of these assets and their topographical location upon the rocky outcrop, there is the potential for the SPZ Scheme to result in a change to the wider landscape setting of these highly graded assets, particularly in key views from the North Terrace and from Snow Hill.

4.4.4 The Development Principles and the Design Code have been formulated to mitigate any potential impact on these highly sensitive receptors. By adopting these principles through conditions secured on the SPZ Scheme, the parameters within the SPZ can be successfully accommodated.

4.4.5 The key considerations in relation to this view are set out in the Townscape and Visual Appraisal (EIA Screening Report, Dec 2023). They are summarised as:

- Maintaining the legibility of the wooded background and skyline,
- Seek to retain this legibility and minimise further industrial influences in the immediate backdrop of Eton College chapel as seen from the key viewpoint from the Northern Terrace at Windsor Castle,
- The colour of the proposed built form will be carefully considered so that there is minimal disruption to the foreground focus of the view. This could include colours that are recessive and distinct from the chapel potentially drawing the colour of the wooded character of the skyline on to the buildings as a backcloth to the chapel,
- Provide a finer grain of roofscape at Whitby Road to reflect the existing roofscape in the east.

4.4.6 The embedded mitigation, development principles, and colour strategy when applied will maintain the legibility of the wooded backdrop and skyline in views from the North Terrace. The proposed colour strategy in particular will ensure that Eton College Chapel will remain the key focal point in this view. This approach will also result in the SPZ Scheme successfully screening the existing CHP buildings within the STE, such that there would be an improvement in how the STE appears within this view.

4.4.7 In the views from Snow Hill, it was determined early in the scenario testing that any additional massing should be focused away from Windsor Castle in these views to ensure its perceived dominance is maintained. The development principles have been established to ensure that any increased massing avoids competing with the skyline features of Windsor Castle in this important view. This includes maintaining the legibility of the wooded backdrop of the Chiltern Hills and carefully focusing massing of the site. The key considerations in relation to this view are set out in the Townscape and Visual Appraisal (EIA Screening Report, Dec 2023). They are summarised as:

- Maintaining the legibility of the wooded backdrop and skyline from mid-distance and long-distance views. Interruption to this backdrop and skyline should be limited, to avoid competing with the skyline features of Windsor Castle.
- The massing of the site should be focused carefully so as to not diminish the perception of elevated landform and built form of Windsor Castle in views from further south, particularly from Snow Hill.

4.4.8 The adoption of these principles will ensure that the SPZ Scheme will not detract from the dominance of Windsor Castle in key views from Great Windsor Park. The massing would be more varied than existing and would taper to the east towards Windsor Castle, retaining space around the asset in long distance views. The ability to experience the significance of Windsor Castle; its scale, composition and importance as an iconic landmark would therefore be maintained.

Moated Site at Cippenham

- 4.4.9 The historic hamlet of Cippenham including Cippenham Court and Cippenham Lodge, both located to the northeast of the moated site, has been absorbed by Slough and now forms one of its suburbs. To the northwest, on the opposite side of Wood Lane are the Wood Lane and Little Chapels Open Space areas that are largely screened from the monument by mature vegetation. On all other sides are 20th century residential development and an Asda superstore.
- 4.4.10 The SPZ Scheme would be most visible in views from within the moated site, as seen from the highest point on the raised bank on the west side looking northwest. In this view development will be visible in places rising above the mature vegetation and the roofscape of the existing residential development positioned between Telford Drive and Cippenham Lane. To a lesser extent development would also have the potential to be visible from within the east side of the moated site, visible above the roofscape of the residential development on the west side of Telford Drive and glimpsed between the tree belt of Little Chapels Open Space.
- 4.4.11 The variation and grading of heights across the SPZ area would assist in reducing the sense of any increase in scale within the STE. Due to the filtering provided by the existing roofscape and mature vegetation, the SPZ Scheme will not appear as a dominant feature within the surrounding townscape as seen from the moated site.
- 4.4.12 It is acknowledged that there would be some change to the wider setting of this designated heritage asset, with the built form of the STE forming a layer of development in the wider townscape setting. However, this minor change, would have minimal effect on the ability to appreciate the significance of the monument, which is inherently related to the physical landform and its association with past activities, that is contained within the moated site.
- 4.4.13 A series of design principles have emerged from the baseline analysis and scenario testing process that will be applied to the SPZ Scheme in order to mitigate townscape and visual sensitivities, including heritage sensitivities. Included within these principles are the use of sensitive colour and materials for taller buildings, including vertical elements on facades to break up horizontal expanses of massing. The use of green infrastructure with the potential for green walls along the facades will help to break up the massing of the buildings whilst also providing a visually interesting townscape. It will also help to visually integrate the proposed development with the surrounding vegetation that features in the views from the moated site.

- 4.4.14 Overall, the mitigation measures will ensure that the proposed development is not a dominant feature in views from the moated site, rather it is sensitively integrated within the existing urban townscape setting. With the adoption of these development principles, the magnitude of impact on the heritage receptor is considered to be negligible. Due to the high sensitivity of the receptor, the significance of effect would be minor adverse. There would be no significant effect in EIA terms.

5 Conclusion

- 5.1.1 Change, including development, can sustain, enhance, or better reveal the significance of an asset as well as detract from it or leave it unaltered. The design of a development affecting the setting of a heritage asset may play an important part in determining its impact. The contribution of the setting to the historic significance of an asset can be sustained or enhanced if new built form buildings are carefully designed to respect their setting by their scale, proportion, height, massing, alignment, and use of materials.
- 5.1.2 Consideration has been given to designated heritage assets within a 5km study area which could be affected by the proposed SPZ Scheme. The baseline conditions have been appraised against the development principles and parameters of the SPZ.
- 5.1.3 The extensive work undertaken has confirmed that the mitigation measures embedded within the SPZ, including the distribution of heights and colour strategy are successful in ensuring the new built form will appear recessive in views from Windsor Castle and Windsor Great Park, blending into the wooded skyline in the backdrop of the views. The rigorous testing of the development principles and the primary mitigation confirmed that the development will assimilate successfully into the wider landscape setting of the heritage assets and that the proposed increase in scale can be successfully accommodated within the parameters of the New SPZ Scheme.

Appendix 1 Assets Scoped Out of Assessment

CONSERVATION AREAS
Asset	Reason for scoping out
Upton Conservation Area                      Also includes Herschel Registered Park and Garden (see below)	The conservation area is approximately 2.3km to the southeast of the site. Due to the distance from the site, existing landscape features, and intervening built form, such as the cluster of buildings along Windsor Road to the northwest, it is not considered the development would result in any meaningful change to the setting of the conservation area. The site holds no associative or functional relationship with the heritage assets, who's heritage sensitivity lies in its medieval core and Upton Park as an almost complete survival of middle-class villa development that emerged with the advent of the railway. As such, development within the parameters set out at section 2.2, would result in no meaningful change to setting that would harm significance and consequently there would be a neutral significance of effect on the conservation area's special character and appearance. The conservation area's special character and appearance which would be preserved, meeting the statutory tests in the 1990 Act.
Farnham Royal Conservation Area	Located approximately 1.2km to the northeast of the site, the conservation area is inward focused with its significance derived from the vernacular architecture, historic buildings, historic plan form and semi-rural, verdant character. There are intervening belts of vegetation to the southwest that separate the village from the urban conurbation of Slough. It is therefore considered that there would not be any meaningful change to the setting of the conservation area. The site holds no associative or functional relationship with the heritage asset. The proposed development within the parameters set out at section 2.2, would therefore have no effects on the historic and semi-rural character that contribute to the significance of the asset. The result would be a neutral significance of effect on the special character and appearance of the conservation area. The conservation area's special character and appearance which would be preserved, meeting the statutory tests in the 1990 Act.
Framework Road Conservation Area	The special character and appearance of the conservation area is derived from the rural and secluded nature of the development, spaciousness, greenery and diverse building types and uses, such as 'gentleman's residences', former farmhouses, estate buildings, vernacular buildings, manor houses and modern buildings. The site holds no associative or functional relationship with the heritage asset. The conservation area is located approximately 4.2 km to the northwest of the site. Due to the distance from the site, existing landscape features, and intervening built form, it is

	considered that there would not be any meaningful change to the setting of the conservation area as a result of the proposed development within the parameters set out at section 2.2, nor would there be any effects on the special features that contribute to the character and appearance of the conservation area. There would be a neutral significance of effect on the conservation area's special character and appearance. The conservation area's special character and appearance which would be preserved, meeting the statutory tests in the 1990 Act.
Stoke Poges West End Conservation Area	The conservation area is located approximately 2.9 km to the northwest of the site. The conservation area focuses on Stoke Court and the small cluster of Victorian cottages to the east. Its special character and appearance are derived from the focus of this historic settlement with the wider residential setting and distant urban settlement of Slough making no contribution to its significance. The site holds no associative or functional relationship with the conservation area. Due to the distance from the site, existing landscape features, and intervening built form, it is not considered that the development within the parameters set out at section 2.2, would result in any meaningful change to the setting of the conservation area. There would be a neutral significance of effect on the conservation area's special character and appearance. The conservation area's special character and appearance which would be preserved, meeting the statutory tests in the 1990 Act.
Fulmer Conservation Area	The conservation area focuses on Fulmer Hall and the historic core of the village of Fulmer with its surrounding rural setting contributing to its significance. The conservation area is located approximately 5.6 km to the northeast of the site. The site holds no associative or functional relationship with the conservation area. Due to the distance from the site, existing landscape features, and intervening built form, it is not considered that the development within the parameters set out at section 2.2, would result in any meaningful change to setting that would harm significance. Consequently, there would be a neutral significance of effect on the conservation area's special character and appearance. The conservation area's special character and appearance which would be preserved, meeting the statutory tests in the 1990 Act.
Taplow Riverside Conservation Area	The conservation area is located approximately 3.9 km to the west of the site. The River Thames and associated riverside development contributes to the conservation area's special character and appearance. The wider setting to the east of the promontory on which Taplow Village is situated does not contribute to the significance of the conservation area. Due to the distance from the site, existing landscape features, and intervening built form, it is not considered that the development within the parameters set out in section 2.2 would result in any meaningful change to setting that would harm significance. Consequently, there would be a neutral significance of effect on the conservation area's special character and appearance. The site holds no associative or functional relationship with the heritage asset. The conservation area's special character and appearance which would be preserved, meeting the statutory tests in the 1990 Act.

Dorney Conservation Area	The conservation area is located approximately 2.5 km to the southwest of the site. It is a linear settlement on an east-west alignment to the west of Dorney Common. The character of the conservation area is derived from the properties addressing Lake End Row, giving the conservation area an inward focus. The distant setting does not contribute to its significance. The site holds no associative or functional relationship with the heritage asset. Due to the distance from the site, existing landscape features, and intervening built form, it is not considered that the development within the parameters set out in section 2.2 would result in any meaningful change to setting that would harm significance and consequently there would be a neutral significance of effect on the conservation area's special character and appearance. The conservation area's special character and appearance which would be preserved, meeting the statutory tests in the 1990 Act.
Trinity Place and Clarence Crescent Conservation Area	The special historic and architectural interest of the conservation area lies in the formal planned layout of Victorian residential properties and 19th century regency architectural character. The conservation area is located approximately 3.9 km to the southeast of the site. The site holds no associative or functional relationship with the heritage asset. Due to the distance from the site, existing landscape features, and intervening built form, it is not considered that the development within the parameters set out in section 2.2 would result in any meaningful change to setting that would harm significance and consequently there would be a neutral significance of effect on the conservation area's special character and appearance. The conservation area's special character and appearance would be preserved, meeting the statutory tests in the 1990 Act.
Inner Windsor Conservation Area	The special historic and architectural interest of the conservation area is derived from the range of predominantly 19th century dwellings within this residential extension to the medieval core of Windsor Town. The conservation area is located approximately 3.9 km to the southeast of the site. The site holds no associative or functional relationship with the conservation area. Due to the distance from the site, existing landscape features, and intervening built form, it is not considered that the development within the parameters set out in section 2.2 would result in any meaningful change to setting that would harm significance and consequently there would be a neutral significance of effect on the conservation area's special character and appearance. The conservation area's special character and appearance would be preserved, meeting the statutory tests in the 1990 Act.
St Bernards School Conservation Area	The focus of the conservation area is St Bernard's Catholic Grammar School who's significance is derived from its origins as Aldin House (c. 1860) followed by the founding of the school in 1897. Only the immediate residential area that surrounds the school and forms its setting contributes to theh significance of the conservation area. The conservation area is located approximately 3.0 km to the east of the site. The site holds no associative or functional relationship with the St Bernard's School. Due to the distance from the site, existing landscape features, and intervening built form,

	it is not considered that the development within the parameters set out in section 2.2 would result in any meaningful change to setting that would harm significance and consequently there would be a neutral significance of effect on the conservation area's special character and appearance. The conservation area's special character and appearance would be preserved, meeting the statutory tests in the 1990 Act.
St. Mary's Church (Langley) Conservation Area	The conservation area is located approximately 4.2 km to the east of the site. The conservation area is concentrated on the church, groups of almshouses and the Red Lion Public House that align St Mary's Road, representing this historic settlement. The character and appearance of the settlement is subsequently focused on St Mary's Road, its wider residential setting does not contribute to its significance. The site holds no associative or functional relationship with the conservation area. Due to the distance from the site, existing landscape features, and intervening built form, it is not considered that the development within the parameters set out in section 2.2 would result in any meaningful change to setting that would harm significance and consequently there would be a neutral significance of effect on the conservation area's special character and appearance. The conservation area's special character and appearance would be preserved, meeting the statutory tests in the 1990 Act.
Sussex Place/Clifton Road Conservation Area	The conservation area is located approximately 2.4 km to the east of the site. It is formed of a small cluster of Victorian Villas and Edwardian dwellings and a park, within a residential part of Slough. The significance of the conservation area is derived from its representation of the historical development of this part of slough and the substantial villas that characterise the area. Due to the distance from the site, existing landscape features, and intervening built form, it is not considered the development would result in any meaningful change to the setting of the conservation area. The site holds no associative or functional relationship with the heritage assets. As such, development within the parameters set out at section 2.2, would not result in any meaningful change to setting that would harm significance and consequently there would be a neutral significance of effect on the conservation area's special character and appearance. The character and appearance of the conservation area would be preserved, meeting the statutory tests in the 1990 Act.
Bray Conservation Area	The conservation area is located approximately 4.2 km to the southwest of the site. The special interest of the village lies in its largely unaltered layout since the 17th century, well preserved strong vernacular architecture, and cultural history including two nationally prestigious restaurants. Its riverside and rural setting contributes to its significance. Due to the distance from the site, existing landscape features, and intervening built form, it is not considered the development would result in any meaningful change to the setting of the conservation area. The site holds no associative or functional relationship with the heritage assets. As such, development within the parameters set out at section 2.2, would not result in any meaningful change to setting that would harm significance.

	Consequently, there would be a neutral significance of effect on the conservation area's special character and appearance. The character and appearance of the conservation area would be preserved, meeting the statutory tests in the 1990 Act.
Mill Lane (Clewer Village) Conservation Area	The conservation area is located approximately 3.3 km to the south of the site. It is a historic riverside settlement focused on the Church of St Mary with a range of buildings including a 17 th century cottage and decorative Victorian terraces. The special character and appearance of the conservation area is derived from its vernacular architecture and varied style of buildings, and its association with the riverside setting. The River Thames and a tributary makes an important contribution to its character and appearance. Due to the distance from the site, existing landscape features, and intervening built form, it is not considered the development would result in any meaningful change to the setting of the conservation area. The site holds no associative or functional relationship with the heritage assets. As such, development within the parameters set out at section 2.2, would not result in any meaningful change to setting that would harm significance. Consequently, there would be a neutral significance of effect on the conservation area's special character and appearance. The character and appearance of the conservation area would be preserved, meeting the statutory tests in the 1990 Act
SCHEDULED MONUMENTS
Asset	List Number	Grade	Reason for scoping out
Montem Mound: a motte at Salt Hill, Upton-cum Chalvey	1007928	N/A	The scheduled monument is located approximately 605m to the east of the site. The small motte survives well as a landscape feature with historical associations with the Eton festival of Montem. The significance of the asset is derived from its historic and archaeological interest and its significance is intrinsically linked to the landform and physicality of the monument. The site is not considered to make any contribution to the significance of the monument. As a result of the intervening built form, the development would not result in any meaningful change to setting that would harm significance and consequently there would be a neutral significance of effect on the scheduled monument.
Slight univallate hillfort at Seven Ways Plain, Burnham Beeches.	1013958	N/A	The scheduled monument is located approximately 3.6 km to the north of the site. This hillfort remains substantially intact. It is in the southern part of Burnham Beeches on a broad plateau. The site is surrounded by the woodland of Burnham Beeches The heritage sensitivity of the monument is derived from its archaeological and historic interest and its significance is intrinsically linked to the landform and physicality of the monument. The site is not considered to make any contribution to the significance of the monument. As a result of the intervening built form and mature planting, the development would not result in any meaningful change to setting that would harm significance. Consequently, there would be a neutral significance of effect on the scheduled monument.

Hartley Court moated site and enclosure	1018576	N/A	The scheduled monument is located approximately 3.1 km to the north of the site. Hartley Court is the best-preserved medieval moat in Buckinghamshire with an undisturbed interior and well-preserved outer enclosure. The monument's significance is derived from its demonstration of a medieval defended settlement and gives insights into the development of the present wooded landscape. The heritage sensitivity of the monument is derived from its archaeological and historic interest and its significance is intrinsically linked to the landform and physicality of the monument. The site is not considered to make any contribution to the significance of the monument. As a result of the intervening built form and mature planting, the development would not result in any meaningful change to setting that would harm significance. Consequently, there would be a neutral significance of effect on the scheduled monument.
East Burnham Animal Pound	1013960	N/A	The scheduled monument is located approximately 2.2 km to the north of the site. The interior of the animal pound is well preserved and parts of the south and east walls have been sensitively rebuilt. The significance of the asset lies in its representation of the management of woodland stock and its association with the ancient woodland of Burnham Beeches and its commons. The heritage sensitivity of the monument is derived from its archaeological and historic interest and its significance is intrinsically linked to the wall structures and physicality of the monument. The site is not considered to make any contribution to the significance of the monument. As a result of the intervening built form and mature planting, the development would not result in any meaningful change to setting that would harm significance. Consequently, there would be a neutral significance of effect on the scheduled monument.
Bowl barrow in Stoke Park Playing field, 400m south of Stoke Park House	1009477	N/A	The scheduled monument is located approximately 950m to the northeast of the site. The barrow survives well with little evidence of disturbance of the mound or surrounding ditch. The heritage sensitivity of the monument is derived from its archaeological and historic interest and its significance is intrinsically linked to the landform and physicality of the monument. The site is not considered to make any contribution to the significance of the monument. As a result of the intervening built form and mature planting, the development would not result any meaningful change to setting that would harm significance. Consequently, there would be a neutral significance of effect on the scheduled monument.

Registered Parks and Gardens
Dropmore	1000599	II	Dropmore is a late 18 th /early 19 th century landscape park, ornamental woodland and a formal garden surrounding a late 18 th century country house. Heavily wooded on its boundaries, its aesthetic value lies within the visually enclosed grounds. The Park and Garden is approximately 3.0 km to the northwest of the site and there is no associative or functional relationship between the two. Due to the separation distance, existing landscape features, and intervening built form, there would not be any meaningful change to setting that would harm significance. Consequently, there would be a neutral significance of effect on the Registered Park and Garden.
Nashdom Abbey	1000606	II	The Park and Garden, 4ha in size, is approximately 3.0 km to the northwest of the site, located just to the south of Dropmore. There is no associative or functional relationship between the site and the asset. It comprises an early 20 th century house and formal garden by Sir Edwin Luytens, with adjacent Woodland. The woodland covers approximately 75 percent of the land with the house within the northwest corner such that the site is almost full enclosed and its heritage sensitivity contained within its boundaries. Due to the distance from the site, existing landscape features, and intervening built form, there would not be any meaningful change to setting that would harm significance. Consequently, there would be a neutral significance of effect on the Registered Park and Garden.
Hedsor House	1001373	II	The Park and Garden is located approximately 4.8 km to the northwest of the site and there is no associative or functional relationship between the two. As a mid to late 18 th century landscape park and pleasure grounds surrounding a 19 th century house, its heritage sensitivity is concentrated within the grounds and there is no relationship with its distant setting. Due to the distance from the site, existing landscape features, and intervening built form, there there would not be any meaningful change to setting that would harm significance. Consequently, there would be a neutral significance of effect on the Registered Park and Garden.
Berry Hill	1000135	II	Berry Hill is a mid-19 th century pleasure grounds and a small park laid out by Robert Marnock between 1856 and 1860 around a modest country house (now gone) with extensive artificial rockwork by James Pulham. There are prominent views towards Maidenhead to the west and southwest but no visual relationship with the settlement of Slough in the Thames Valley to the east. The Park and Garden is located approximately 3.5 km to the west of the site and there is no associative or functional relationship between the two. Due to the distance from the site, existing landscape features, and intervening built form, there would not be any meaningful change to setting that would harm significance. Consequently, there would be a neutral significance of effect on the Registered Park and Garden.

Herschel Park (formerly Upton Park)	10001648	II	See Upton Conservation Area above.
Ditton Park	10001290	II	The Park and Garden is located approximately 4.1 km to the southeast of the site and there is no associative or functional relationship between the two. As a moated country house surrounded by the remains of formal early 18 th century gardens and a wilderness, within a landscape park laid out by Lancelot Brown, its heritage sensitivity lies predominantly within the boundaries of the park. Due to the distance from the site, existing landscape features, and intervening built form, there would not be any meaningful change to setting that would harm significance. Consequently, there would be a neutral significance of effect on the Registered Park and Garden.
Langley Park	1000603	II	Langley Park is located approximately 4.0km to the east of the site and there is no associative or functional relationship between the two. It is an 18 th century landscape park by Lancelot Brown on the site of a medieval deer park, surrounding an 18 th century country house with 18/19 th century pleasure grounds and 19 th century gardens. The land comprised of 160ha is largely flat and in a predominantly rural setting. The suburbs of Slough are relatively unobtrusive to the southwest. Due to the distance from the site, existing landscape features, and the extensive intervening built form comprising the southwest suburbs of Slough, there would not be any meaningful change to setting that would harm significance. Consequently, there would be a neutral significance of effect on the Registered Park and Garden.
